Course Meeting Dates Exception Form

All classes at Appalachian State University should have start and end dates based on the standard academic semesters (Fall, Spring and Summer) as determined by the University Calendar Committee. However, some courses may need to meet outside those defined dates for academic reasons, and these may be granted exceptions to the standard scheduling requirement. This form is used to justify exceptions and must be approved by the Dean of the College and Academic Affairs each time a course is offered. Further information about this policy may be found at: https://registrar.appstate.edu/faculty-staff/registration/date-exception-request
